The Confessions Spoken in the Room

Four confessions spoken to God from the ground: a parable of the Lord seen through the fire of the mind; the night the eagle came out of the cage and He was already there; a love letter to the God who died for him; and the Nunc Dimittis - the release of an engineer after twenty-two years at the terminal: "My child, you can now rest."
A companion volume of The Beholder Project. The tears are the offering. Empty hands are the classical offering. And it is enough.

"My child, you can now rest."
